GONZAGA: PAST AND PRESENT

On October 13, 1881, Father Joseph Cataldo purchased the property for the future Gonzaga college. The desolate, 320-acre tract cost him $936 in silver dollars. Spokane was a settlement surrounded by Indian country; the founding Jesuits of Gonzaga established a mission school to educate the natives.

Now, in 1981, a hundred years later, a lot of Spokane river-water has flowed under the bridge and away down the falls. Spokane is a growing city of 180,000 people; Gonzaga is a modern campus alive with the business of the present. But as the yearbook records the present, it creates the past, paints historical pictures that we will recall, years hence. And thus my purpose in combining the historical Gonzaga with the G.U. of today is to show that it, as are so many facets of our life, is in process.

We enable it to progress. We record the smiles, the sunsets, the scenery that merit remembrance. We criticize the faults we see and present an ideal to be strived for. We pray that we spring from this school, green shoots from an old stump, intelligent and good men and women, to spread Gonzaga's Christian influence throughout the world.—Mimi Brady

Above: an old etching showing the original college building from Lake Arthur (named much later after Father Art Dussault). The college was founded in 1887; its name was taken from the family of St. Aloysius, the patron of youth. This building was built in 1889, and in 1900 was hoisted up on rollers and moved by horses back near the present Jesuit House so that the new building could be erected. In 1904 the new college was built. Opposite page: Top, the old college and St. Aloysius Church; middle, the old building; and bottom, the brand-new college building—without Russell Theatre. # PHOTO CONTEST SPIRES sponsored a photo contest in the spring, offering cash prizes to the best of four categories: What you see at Gonzaga in 1) landscape, 2) people, 3) sports, and 4) faculty. Unfortunately, no faculty, and only one sports photo were entered; so many scenic shots were submitted that we couldn't print them all. Another shame is the fact that most of them were in color, which didn't affect the competition, but they don't show up as well in a black and white yearbook.

Stu Quinn's pilgrimage photo won the $50 first prize; this is on page 109. He won first place in "landscape" too, shown opposite. Ray Michelson's "Tree", right, and A.J. Schmidt's pilgrimage photo, below, both won Awards of Merit. The rest of the Awards of Merit are pictured on pages 10-11. Stu Quinn also won first place in the Sports category (these were judged by someone who did not know the entrants' names) since his was the only entry; that is the hockey shot, lower left, p. 74. We are grateful to all those who submitted photos.

The Waikiki mansion, Gonzaga's retreat facility, is the finest example of Tudor architecture in the county. It was built from 1911-1913 by J.P. Graves, an early day Spokane mining and railroad tycoon. Originally a 700-acre estate, the land was subdivided by a housing development syndicate in 1963. The lot with the 23-room mansion, forty to fifty percent of the furnishings, the carriage house, and two small brick storage houses was sold to the university for $85,000. In 1964 Gonzaga's maintenance department built the dormitory and renovated the carriage house into a chapel, all of which cost another $85,000. Thus the total cost for the house as it is today was approximately $170,000.

to Christ our King
without whom
nothing is possible

My soul proclaims the greatness of the Lord and my spirit exults in God savior;
because he has looked upon his lowly handmaid.
yes, from this day forward all generations
will call me blessed,
for the almighty has done great things for me.
holy is his name,
and his mercy reaches from age to age for those who fear him.
he has shown the power of his arm.
he has routed the proud of heart.
he has pulled down princes from their thrones
and exalted the lowly.
the hungry he has filled with good things.
the rich sent empty away.
he has come to the help of Israel his servant,
mindful of his mercy ~according to the promise he made to our ancestors~
or his mercy to abraham and to his descendants for ever.

ADAM & EVE

THE GIFT

I want to give you something, my child, for we are drifting in the stream of the world.

Our lives will be carried apart, and our loves forgotten. But I am not so foolish as to hope that I could buy your heart with my gifts.

Young is your life, your path long, and you drink the love we bring you at one draught and turn and run away from us.

You have your play and your playmates. What harm is there if you have no time or thought for us.

We, indeed, have leisure enough in old age to count the days that are past, to cherish in our hearts what our hands have lost forever.

The river runs swift with a song, breaking through all barriers. But the mountain stays and remembers, and follows her with his love.

—Rabindranath Tagore

SKI

TEAM

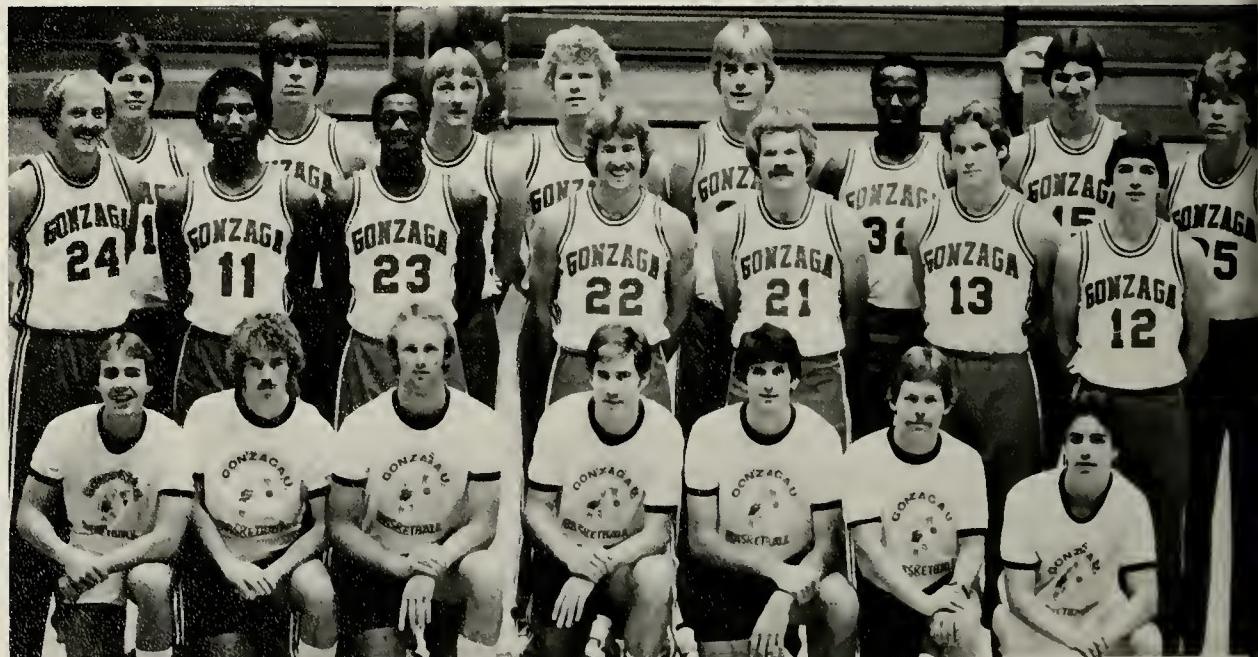

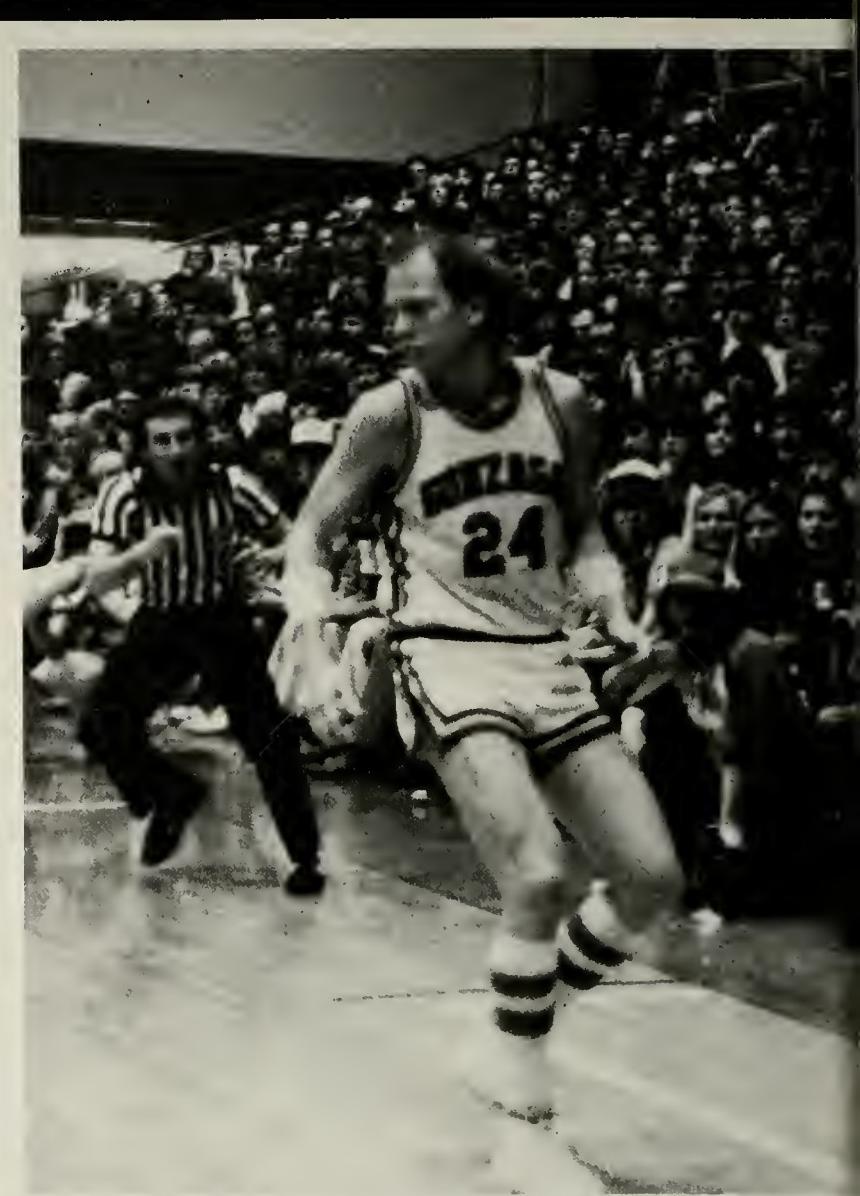

For the Gonzaga Bulldogs, the 1980-81 basketball season proved to be successful, but at the same time, bittersweet. The 19 wins posted by Dan Fitzgerald's squad was more than any Bulldog quintet had managed since Hank Anderson's 1966-67 team went 21-6. The surprisingly successful season was the third consecutive winning year for the Bulldogs, once again something that had not been done for a long time on the Boone Avenue campus. But despite being in the thick of the race for the league title down to the last game, a final night loss to the Portland Pilots, and the NIT bid that never was, left a bitter taste in the mouths of all concerned with Gonzaga basketball. But what cannot be overlooked, is the fact that the 1980-81 Bulldogs were a very fine college team.

Coach's comments: "This has been the greatest team I have been associated with. They have done everything we have asked, they have played hard all year long. The four seniors have been just great. They are responsible for our success."

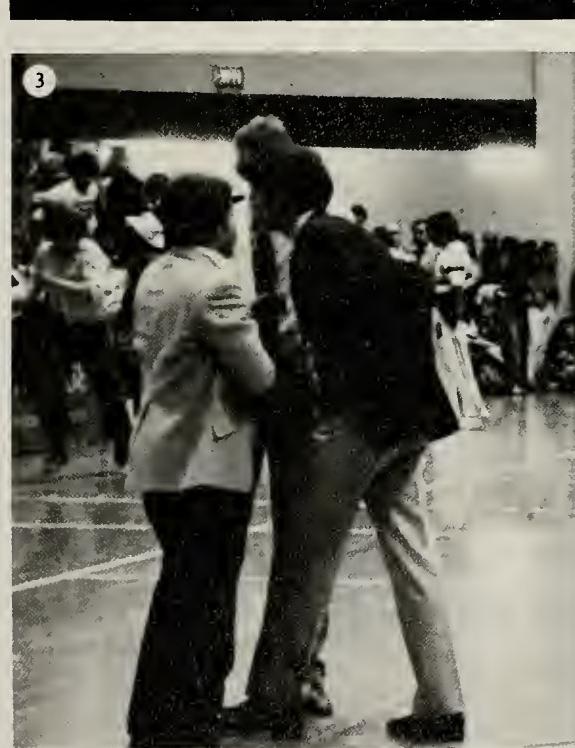

Looking at the season in review, the highlights had to be winning the Champion Holiday Classic in Montana, and the big win in Kennedy Pavilion over the USF Dons. Even the early season loss to the DePaul team stands out, as the Bulldogs proved to themselves they could play with the best.

So now the 1980-81 season is in the books, as in the Dan Fitzgerald era. Fitz closed with a fine mark, 51-29, in his three years of guiding the Bulldogs. His animated antics, and his burning desire to win will be missed by all Bulldog followers.

Are you a mere picture, and not as true as those stars, true as this dust? They throb with the pulse of things, but you are immensely aloof in your stillness, painted form.

The day was when you walked with me, your breath warm, your limbs singing of life. My world found its speech in your voice, and touched my heart with your face. You suddenly stopped in your walk, on the shadow-side of the Forever, and I went on alone.

Life, like a child, laughs, shaking its rattle of death as it runs; it beckons me on, I follow the unseen; but you stand there, where you stopped behind that dust and those stars; and you are a mere picture.

SPEAKERS

The A.S.G.U. Speaker program this year was not only a student service for the Gonzaga community, but for the Spokane community as well. Donations were solicited from all sectors of the community in an attempt to provide more and better speakers for students, faculty, and area residents.

Gonzaga and the Associated Students sponsored the first state-wide televised Gubernatorial Debate in October. Later Senator Henry Jackson, an expert on foreign relations and defense, addressed students and faculty on the Middle East culture. Rusty Rhodes provided his sixteen years of research on the Kennedy assassination, concluding that organized crime initiated the killing. Alex Haley presented his thoughts on the future of the American family to a packed Kennedy Pavilion. Following the Christmas Break, A.S.G.U. presented the Special Counsel to President Nixon during Watergate, John Dean, as he discussed his involvement in the scandal which jolted the nation. Vincent Bugliosi, prosecutor of Charles Manson, gave his thoughts on the prosecution of Manson and "the family," while also discussing the CULT phenomenon. Dewey Covington, from the CIA, discussed the future prospects of International terrorism and the Iranian crisis.

APRILFEST WEEKEND

CHAMPA

I opened my bud when April breathed her last and the summer scorched with kisses the unwilling earth. I came half afraid and half curious, like a mischievous imp peeping at a hermit's cell.

I heard the frightened whispers of the despoiled woodland, and the Kokil gave voice to the languor of the summer; through the fluttering leaf-curtain of my birth-chamber I saw the world grim, grey, and haggard.

Yet boldly I came out strong with the faith of youth, quaffed the fiery wine from the glowing bowl of the sky, and proudly saluted the morning, I, the champa flower, who carry the perfume of the sun in my heart.
